CENSUS 1992

This Census initially means the gathering or collection of relevant information and data which pertain to the following areas:

1. Housing
2. Personage
3. Education
4. Employment

Such information and data collected are analysed to establish the economic, social and demographic conditions to which the island community is subject. For example, we aim to find out present living and housing conditions, establish the rate of growth of the population, determine the constraints on employment, take stock of our educational facilities, programmes, etc.

The analysis of the above will allow for plans to improve upon or develop what we already possess. It will also determine what we would need or do not need. The emphasis of the Census in the final stage is on developmental plans and implementation of such to cater for and accommodate the growth and expansion of the economy for the coming generations.

You are advised that under the Census Act 1973; sections 7 and 9, you are required to answer the questions as directed in the questionnaire in full. You are liable for prosecution on failing to do so.

It is stressed that any information given by you will be treated with strict confidence. Any person found undermining this confidence by divulging any of this information whatever is liable for prosecution facing a penalty charge of $500 and six months imprisonment.

It is also brought to your notice that to ensure and protect your privacy, there are questions on the questionnaire which can be detached leaving in no way any means of associating and identifying the given information with your person.

For your information and reference, attached overleaf are extracts taken from the Nauru Census Act 1973.

CENSUS ACT 1973
